

Monday Morning, June 21, 1869.

SOME men are blessed by a fixity of their natal stars in the firmament, which by their supposed supernatural influence, make every action in such men's lives, no matter how absurd, redound to their glory and advantage. The power of these "lucky stars," as they are called, transmits men's actions and words—as the philosopher's stone was said to do. It is baser material—into pure gold. Thus it is, while this astral influence lasts, that confessed idiots become great men, and their opinions are set up in letters of gold; but let the shining orbs alluded to be eclipsed by some other luminary, and this whilom deity is cast from his high place; his opinions so frequently repeated as to have become political "household words," are voted "bosh," and the new deity is set up on the same pedestal to be worshipped and cast down as before, unless his star is "fixed" long enough to carry him through his "season." We do not put forth the above as a doctrine, we only utilize the popular fiction to demonstrate more clearly the peculiar fortune that follows all men with greater or less continuity at intervals or throughout life. We do not pretend to augur for the new Governor a perfect elysium when he arrives out here; on the contrary, we suspect that his will be the very disagreeable task of clearing out the Augean Stables that have been allowed to accumulate much that is noisome to the public taste and expensive to the honest taxpayer. There is one advantage which he will have over some of his predecessors: he will be free from the regiments of parasites that former Governors have been afflicted with, and from which the public Treasury has suffered so much. He cannot be assailed with the imputation of having old country prejudices, as he is himself a colonist, and will lean naturally to practical men in his appointments. Hence we may look for the appointment of men who can understand our wants, and who, being content with comfortable Colonial life, will accept moderate remuneration for actual work. In speaking so far, we have had no desire to reflect upon the present holders of office; there are, no doubt, gentlemen amongst our present officials who are not more than remunerated for their excellent and valuable services, but there are others who can easily be dispensed with—there being absolutely nothing for them to do,—and some whose salaries are altogether out of proportion to the services rendered. There are here, by some odd contingencies hitherto unexplained, forms of procedure, both Fiscal and Judicial, that have long been obsolete in the old country; as if, by the transference of the old-fashioned machines to this Colony the workmanship had an out-of-date shape. It may be that much of the popular feeling expressed against officialdom arose from this cause; a defect, however, of the most serious character; for awkward or ignorant people may be improved or educated; but those whose habits have become a second nature are past recall.

Hence it may be necessary for our new Governor to remove certain of the gentlemen now holding Government appointments, although with much regret; for, while they honorably fill the positions assigned to them, to the best of their abilities, they are, from no fault of their own, wholly unfit for the duties. We cannot imagine a more unfortunate place for an official retaining old-fashioned prejudices than British Columbia. It is not merely that new Colonies require more promptitude in action, more boldness of conception, and also, a greater hardihood in facing hazardous enterprises, than would be deemed, in England, quite consonant with discretion; but we are here in juxtaposition with the most go-a-head nation in the world; and although the conception and carrying out of the enterprises south of the forty-ninth parallel, are not exactly models for us, still they are material for people so inclined by which to draw a comparison in relation to the respective degrees of progress as effected by the governments of the two countries in question. In alluding to the necessity for a more recent style of procedure in our various branches of government, we are very far from recommending any importation of forms or modes of action from our neighbors and "cousins." We only require our machinery filed down and altered to suit the improvements and additions which modern science has introduced. We require a simpler form of government at a smaller cost and fewer officials. A reduced civil list will place means in the hands of government or credit, (which is the same thing,) to enter upon any public enterprise that may conduce to the welfare of the people. The constant excuse put forward hitherto for the non-performance of the most necessary public project has been the want of sufficient funds. This, if properly looked at, is a very lame excuse, as a government should never lack funds for any public improvement that would bring profit to its traders and revenue to the public treasury. Hence it is, that we look for a real relief to the Colony and the people by the advent of Governor Musgrave, who is an experienced financier, and who, while there is an officer drawing a heavy salary for doing next to nothing, will not accept the ordinary excuses as reasons for deferring the construction of a road, or the removal of some obstacle to traffic, that is imperatively demanded for the public good. He will not admit that any ordinary official occupation shall stand in the way of the proper administration of Justice, or that any section of the Colony remains cut off from the others so that it is necessary to pass through an alien country to reach it.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The Herald's London special says the debate in the House of Lords to-night creates the most intense interest. There is a determination to force a division but it is not expected before four o'clock in the morning; the House is crowded with spectators, including the Prince of Wales and Duke of Cambridge, who apparently intend to sit out the debate. The best calculations count on the passage of the bill to a second reading by a majority of from 12 to 22. The general belief is that the House of Lords will strike out the disendowment feature and leave disestablishment alone. This is likely to prove more embarrassing to the ministry than a direct rejection of the bill. Rumours are rife of an attempt to drive Bright from the Cabinet.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 18.—The difficulties between Turkey and Persia have been settled. The Persian Ambassador here has resumed his functions.

PARIS, June 18.—The Emperor has written a letter to Mr. Mackay, one of the newly elected members of the Corps Legislatif, in reply to a communication addressed to him by that gentleman, in the name of his constituents, wherein, in reply he says: "The Government is equally able to suppress disturbances and grant liberties, but the concession of principles and personal sacrifices are always insufficient in preventing a popular movement. Government which should preserve itself, ought not to yield to extreme pressure." The Emperor adds, "I am well assured that these views are those of our constituents. I am convinced they are the same which are entertained by a majority of the Chambers."

MADRID, June 16.—The National says, the Cortes passed a decree establishing a regency under Marshal Serrano. The vote on the final passage stood 193 yeas, to 45 nays.

Magnificent speeches were made in the Cortes to-day by Castellar and Olegarias; the former attacking, the latter defending the French empire.

LONDON, June 18.—Mr. Gladstone, in reply to a question from Lord North, explained that Mr. Bright wrote the recent letter to the Birmingham meeting without consulting his colleagues and on his own responsibility. The Government had no intention of threatening the House of Lords. Each Estate of the Kingdom was entitled to the fullest freedom of speech, and he would regard with great jealousy any attempt to interfere with it, especially if made by a minister of the Crown. He and his colleagues, Mr. Bright, both discouraged any popular action trying to interfere with the independence of the House of Lords.

Lord Cairns, amid cheers from the Opposition, put the question whether Bright's letter had been endorsed by the other members of the Government and whether, in the present crisis it was a proper support and assistance to the Government? He said the Government must either endorse or repudiate the letter.

Earl Granville replied. He admitted the authenticity of the letter and said the Cabinet had declined to discuss the policy to be pursued if the bill should be rejected. He thought the cabinet was not responsible for the individual opinions of the members, and regretted Bright's language, but he had Bright's authority for stating that he had no intention to express any disrespect to their Lordships, and that if any pain had been caused, he expressed unfeigned regret.

Romantic Murder and Suicide in Paris.

An incident has just occurred in Paris the details of which, as related by the French papers, appear better suited to form the plot of a highly spiced sensational drama than to be accepted as actual facts. We translate almost literally:—"A worthy clerk possessed a most charming wife; amiable, witty, virtuous, her beauty added grace to these qualities. One fault only, and as her excuse it must be admitted that it had been encouraged by her husband—she indulged to excess her Parisian instinct, her love for dress. Her husband was proud of her, and took her out a great deal in society, chiefly in the official circles; but notwithstanding this gaiety her days were invariably spent in the education of her children. Indeed, had she lived in other times Penelope would have found a dangerous rival. This, however, did not hinder the love of a youthful Cæsar. His advances met with a scornful rebuff. Cæsar, however, had some knowledge of women; he did not despair, he held his peace, and waited. But he had powerful allies, and soon the milliner, the dress-maker, the proprietor of hired broughams, &c., began a persistent and fatal attack on the tranquillity of the household. Yet neither the husband nor the wife had the courage to reduce their expenditure. Thus a whole year was allowed to pass. Then it became no longer possible to hold out. Here was the moment for the youthful Cæsar to reappear on the scene. One day the young lady, till then the pure wife, left his house hiding under her cloak a purse in which were bank notes to the value of 500,000 francs (£20,000). Up to this point the tale is true in the extreme. It is but a mild repetition of an everyday occurrence in Paris society. Here only begins the peculiarities of this drama. The young woman, tormented by her debts, maddened, without hope, was dazzled by the enormous figure of five hundred thousand francs. It was a fortune, it was tranquility for life, and—for who can read the depth of female calculations?—a future for her children. A! this in exchange for one unique fault, which for ever should remain a secret. She had yielded. Her first impulse after her fall was one of joy. She ran and paid all her debts. These were covered with fifty thousand francs. But then and then only, the horror of the situation dawned upon her. What was to be done with the four hundred and fifty thousand francs remaining. She could not invest them without the sanction of her husband, or entrust anyone with them, for it would have been necessary to confide her fault. Her powers were null. She could not, even little by little, spend the money. That would have excited suspicion. She was compelled to hide them in her room at the bottom of her drawers—and then what anxiety! Her husband, as well as herself, had the keys of the furniture, and he frequently sought out different things. At any moment hazard might reveal all. The young lady at last hid them between her blankets, then in the kitchen, then under the boarding of the dining-room floor. Her mind in perpetual agony, she fell into a "faint," and, refused to take food. At last, one day, her husband, mad, then in a frenzy, seized her by the hand, dragged him to the dining-room, and, pointing to the board, commanded him to "dig there." Obeying, the husband found the bank notes, killed his wife, and then blew out his own brains."

A mammoth bass drum is on exhibition in Boston. The heads measure nearly 8 feet each in diameter, and are made from the hides of two mammoth oxen, which have been exhibited through the country for several years past. It is now the largest drum in the world. So great is the spirit of competition nowadays that somebody will construct one to beat it out of the hides of elephants.

Funeral Services.

Yesterday morning a large congregation attended at Christ Church, and the service, which was commemorative of the recent death of Governor Seymour, possessed more than usual interest. The service was conducted by the Rev. Dean Cridge, Ven. Archdeacon Reece and Rev. Dr. Hayman. The sermon was delivered by the Archdeacon, who chose for his text Chapter XIII. of St. Paul's Epistle to the Hebrews, 14th verse: "For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come." The reverend gentleman's remarks went to show that kingdoms and dynasties and cities are founded in all the pomp and circumstance of this world, yet they crumble away; our loved ones pass away from our sight, and the circles of friendship are ever narrowing. Our plans fail altogether, or are completed by others. On everything that man attempts is set the seal of change and incompleteness. All the while

"Our hearts are beating like muffled drums,
For funeral marches to the grave."

Here there is no "continuing city." The congregation were urged not to depend on the prospect of health or strength to delay turning their thoughts heavenward. The day that would soon close might never again open to them in this world. Time is short; eternity is long; and they were exhorted to put their hands to the plough, and to look not back till they had ploughed a long, straight furrow to the everlasting hills. The sermon, which occupied nearly three-quarters of an hour in delivery, was listened to with marked attention throughout. The anthem and hymns were effectively rendered by a full choir. The interior of the Church was heavily draped in black, and the congregation appeared in mourning.

In the evening, at Christ Cathedral, the services were performed by the Very Rev. Dean Cridge and the Rev. Dr. Hayman, the latter preaching a most eloquent discourse from the 21st verse of 3rd Philistines: "Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself." The rev. gentleman dwelt on the frailty of our human existence, and the duties we owe to each other in charity and kindness. He described in beautiful language the delights that are in store for us when we have finished the voyage of earthly suffering and arrived in a haven of rest. The discourse was listened to with deep interest.

At St. John's Church, in the evening, there were also appropriate services. A sermon was delivered by the Rector, the Rev. Mr. Jones, who alluded feelingly to the demise of Governor Seymour, and dwelt forcibly and eloquently upon the necessity of preparation in anticipation of the dread summons. The edifice was draped with the insignia of mourning.

Rev. Mr. Somerville, at the Presbyterian Church, preached an impressive sermon upon the late sad event, and alluded in appropriate and eloquent terms to the lesson that death conveys to every mind. The pulpit and gallery of the Church were hung with crape.

She is to be a regular packet....Mrs. Seymour will go to New Westminster on Friday next, remaining there till the following Wednesday. Mr. Lowndes and the Rev. Dr. Hayman and Mrs. Hayman will accompany Mrs. Seymour to England.....Mr. Coleman of this city, who made the ascent of Mount Baker last summer, and wrote an account of his perilous journey for Harper's Magazine, has been notified that his article is accepted, and acknowledged with something more substantial than thanks.

DRY GOODS AND CLOTHING AUCTION.—Mr. Godfrey Brown will sell at 11 o'clock this morning, at the warehouse of Janion, Rhodes & Co., a fine line of dry goods, clothing and furnishing goods, on a liberal credit.

City Council.
On Saturday last the City Council held a special session for the purpose of adopting an address of condolence to Mrs. Seymour. There were present: His Worship the Mayor, and Councillors McKay, Al'sop, Gerow and Allatt.
Councillor McKay moved the adoption of the following address to Mrs. Seymour, which was adopted accordingly:—
MRS. SEYMOUR,
Madam:—We, the Mayor and Council of the city of Victoria, B. C., beg to express our deep sympathy in your hour of bereavement and sorrow.

We feel that in Governor Seymour we have lost a friend, who had the welfare of this City at heart, and who was always willing to forward any measures for its improvement and good government.
Earnestly praying that you may be sustained through this heavy affliction,
We have the honor to be, Madam,
Your obedient Servants,
JAMES TRIMBLE, Mayor.
On behalf of the Corporation.

On motion, the Council adjourned until Tuesday, 22nd instant.

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD—GREAT BRITAIN'S DUTY.—An English paper, speaking of the completion of the Pacific Railroad, says:—"Not two years ago the engineers modestly 'hoped' to open the entire line in 1870; and 1! it is opened already; and, still more strange to say, it appears likely to be kept well within the estimated cost. Think of these things, O British shareholder, whose profits go to pay debenture interest; think upon them, O British public, which cannot use the Thames Embankment because of all the extra years required to finish the vast mileage of the Metropolitan District Railway; think upon them, O British patriot, jealous for your country's fame as the land of Smeaton, Stephenson, and Watt! Think, too, upon that other work, that meeting of the waters in the once desert sands of Suaz, and ask where now is England's claim to lead the nations along the golden roads of peace? Why was it left to France to reap the glory of that great work? Why have we not emulated America in linking the oceans together or France in carrying water to the far from desert plains of India? For Heaven's sake let us only do something. Let us pierce a canal through Ireland, or bridge the Channel, or join British Columbia to the Canada, or irrigate India on a royal scale; only let us do something to be proud of! If the chinking of money-bags lulls us to sleep, let us beware lest we fail to wake up again."

THE SAN JUAN ISLAND TRAGEDY.—The remains of Mr. A. Hubbard, who was killed on San Juan Island on Thursday evening last by Charles Watts, were interred yesterday. The funeral was attended by the American Consul and many friends of the deceased. Watts was arrested by Captain DeLacomb, Commander of the English Garrison, and handed over to the custody of Col. Bird, the American Commander. Watts made no effort to escape. When told that he had killed Hubbard, he said, "I know it, but he provoked me to it." On his way to the American camp he wept a great deal and expressed deep sorrow for what he had done. He is now in close confinement at the American camp. All the effects of the deceased, together with the partnership effects of the Lime Co., have been taken in charge by Col. Bird. The prisoner will be tried by military commission.

FROM ROCK CREEK.—Mr. Fair, of the H. B. Co., who arrived on Saturday from Rock Creek and Similkameen, confirms our report of Friday last respecting the gold diggings in that locality. The bedrock flume company, composed of fifteen men, have started work with excellent prospects before them. The stock in the valley of Similkameen is increasing rapidly. Mr. Haynes the Magistrate, has 700 head of horned cattle and 150 horses on his run. The Hudson Bay Company have also large bands of cattle in the valley.

Supreme Court.
Before Chief Justice Neidham.
Saturday, June 18.
Dussel vs B. C. & V. I. Spar and Mill Co.—The defence produced a number of skilled witnesses, Captain Larcom, H. M. gunboat Forward, Lieutenant Connor, R. N., and Capt. John Thain, whose evidence went to show that where the Rosalia was cast off from the Isabel was not an unsafe place, and that the accident or loss was attributable, in whole or in part, to the negligence of the captain of the Rosalia.

The depositions of five gentlemen, taken in San Francisco, were read as evidence to damage, placing the value of the ship at from $2000 to $5000.

Mr. Robertson, for the defence, addressed the jury at considerable length, and in a very able manner, resting his defence mainly on the point of negligence on the part of the Captain of the Rosalia, quoting authority to show that any negligence on the part of the plaintiff which might contribute in part to the loss of the ship, would prevent the recovery of damages. He contended that the agreement made by the Captain of the Isabel to tow the Rosalia, did not prevent him from towing any other ship at the same time, urging strong arguments to show that the defendants had, by no design or neglect, failed to do all that they were bound to do under the circumstances, as he had endeavoured to show by the evidence of skilled and disinterested witnesses.

The learned judge, in addressing the jury, said the case reduced itself to one single point. It has been clearly proved by the bill for the towing of the Rosalia, that the defendants are the owners of the Isabel. The plaintiff is admitted to be the owner of the Rosalia. The contract to tow the ship is not denied. The question for the jury is one of fact for non-fulfilment of contract. The question for you, gentlemen of the jury, is this—aye or no, have the defendants been guilty of negligence, whereby the ship Rosalia was wrecked and lost? If they have, they are liable. If they have not been guilty of negligence, they are not liable. The negligence of the plaintiff has contributed to the disaster of the defendants are not liable. There has been much confusion in the case, and a wrong application has been made of the negligence sought to be attributed to the plaintiff. If the negligence of the defendants contributed to the negligence of the plaintiff, any subsequent negligence of the plaintiff would not remove the liability of the defendants. It through the negligence of the defendants, the vessel was brought into peril and danger, the subsequent negligence of the plaintiff would not relieve the liability of the defendants. The contract undertaken by the defendants implies that they should use all reasonable care, skill and power to bring the Rosalia from Burrard Inlet to Victoria. Did they bring to bear the steam power sufficient for the performance of the contract, taking into consideration the time, place and distance, the season of the year, the force of the weather, etc.? If not, any subsequent negligence of the plaintiff, such as is urged and sought to be shown by evidence, has no bearing on the case. The want of rope, the want of pilot men, the leakage of the ship, the insecurity of the deck load, will not contribute to the loss of the ship, necessary by law to the act of negligence, necessary by law to the act of negligence of the defendants. Did the loss of the ship accrue from that negligence? The duty of a tug, as laid down by the authorities, is not merely to tow, but if an emergency arise, to give all assistance in saving the vessel from loss, and for any assistance rendered in this way the boat towing is entitled to salvage for additional services. The evidence of Capt. Endicott and Capt. Arthur shows that there was no effort made on the part of the Isabel to render them as sailors. They both say they did not see the steamer after they were cast off or broke clear of her. Capt. Pamphlet, however, says that he did try to assist them. There is no charge made by the plaintiff of neglect of this kind, and it will not be a matter for the jury to take into consideration.

The Chief Justice then read portions of the evidence and remarked that upon the question of damages the jury must decide between the two extremes of $7,000 and $18,000, the different values set upon the vessel and cargo. The charge concluded by instructing the jury that the question for them to consider was, aye or no, are the defendants guilty of negligence? The jury retired at five o'clock, and after waiting half an hour, the Judge informed them that he would return at eight o'clock and receive their verdict. At five minutes to nine the Judge returned, and the jury came into Court, and when asked if they had agreed upon a verdict, replied that they had agreed six to two. The Chief Justice asked the Counsel on both sides if they were satisfied that the jury had been out three hours. The Counsel assented. The jurymen were then asked to state what they had agreed upon. The foreman replied that their verdict was, "The Captain of the Isabel is not guilty of negligence, and did not cause the loss of the ship."

Chief Justice—I am afraid that is no agreement. I cannot take that verdict. It will involve a perfect failure of justice. The foreman then requested that the charge be given in writing.

His Lordship replied that he would put the questions to them in writing, to which he would require them to answer. The following questions were then put, in writing, and the jury retired to consider thereon:
1. The Isabel had taken the Rosalia along in tow from Burrard Inlet, and taken no other vessel in tow during the voyage, would the Rosalia, in all human probability, under the circumstances, have reached Victoria in safety?
Yes.
2. Did the defendants bring the Rosalia into Victoria?
No.
3. Did the fact of the Fanny being taken in tow decrease the power of the Isabel to act in favor of the Rosalia?
Yes, it did.
4. At the time the Isabel cast off the Rosalia was she able to tow both vessels into Victoria?
No.
5. Was the Fanny taken in tow with the consent of the captain of the Rosalia?
The jury twice returned unsatisfactory answers, after which they came into the Court and the Judge read a portion of the evidence of Captains Endeiza and Pamphlet, bearing upon the question.

The jury, after a few minutes conference, said that six of them were of opinion that the captain of the Rosalia admitted the rope on board after the position of the ships was changed.
The Judge would not accept the verdict on the question, and ordered them to retire to the jury room, where he would be obliged to keep them the time required by the statute.
The jury retired, and at the expiration of an hour, with the consent of the Counsel on both sides, were permitted to adjourn until Monday morning at 11 o'clock.
The Court adjourned at a quarter to 12 p.m.

The Can-can in the City of New York.

At the masquerade balls this winter, with scarcely a single exception, the Can-can spirit seemed to pervade everything and everybody. Hence, young men and Anonymas have introduced the dance in its most graceful, grotesque and exaggerated form. In vain have experts been introduced direct from the bat Mabilie to teach them its Parisian delicacy of indolence of spicy flavor and wickedness. They have left their instructors far behind, and preferred to Americanize and vulgarize it. The excess to which it has been carried has more than bordered on insanity. At the height of one of these balls, in the Academy of Music, a single couple, occupying a proscenium box, began dancing the Can-can in full view of the assemblage. Upon the floor beneath, the watching and applauding crowd widened and widened, until these two young persons absorbed the entire interest of the moment. Cheer upon cheer greeted each fresh endeavor on their part; their audience were on the very tip toe of excitement; flushed and breathless, they danced on, only stopping to throw kisses and flowers to the swaying crowd, until, ready to faint with exhaustion, they were literally unable to stand a moment longer. On such a scene as this, gazed the wives and mothers, the daughters and sisters of respectable citizens of New York, interested and unabashed, if not altogether unamused. In the very midst of such a scene as this, joy, glowing and elated with artificial, unmeaning, mad excitement, were respectable citizens of New York, themselves. Can any comment be more eloquent than the bare facts presented?

Garbling force and impetuosity, the great wave of sensuality has rolled on, seemingly without an object to check its progress, until at length it seems to have reached its climax, and curling, foaming and towering above our heads, ready to fall upon us like a destroying deluge. The last public masked ball held in this city was a public disgrace to America, and an insult to civilization of the nineteenth century. It was advertised in the public press, the tickets were sold in public places, and every outward claim was made at least to ordinary respectability. But for many days beforehand it was the foremost topic of conversation among what might be called "Young New York," and simultaneously anticipated, as a delightful innovation. These two classes met and mingled together within the walls of a popular theatre, and scenes of revelry, carousal and dissipation followed that beggars description.

Can any comment be more eloquent than the bare facts presented?

Garbling force and impetuosity, the great wave of sensuality has rolled on, seemingly without an object to check its progress, until at length it seems to have reached its climax, and curling, foaming and towering above our heads, ready to fall upon us like a destroying deluge. The last public masked ball held in this city was a public disgrace to America, and an insult to civilization of the nineteenth century. It was advertised in the public press, the tickets were sold in public places, and every outward claim was made at least to ordinary respectability. But for many days beforehand it was the foremost topic of conversation among what might be called "Young New York," and simultaneously anticipated, as a delightful innovation. These two classes met and mingled together within the walls of a popular theatre, and scenes of revelry, carousal and dissipation followed that beggars description.

Here at least the mask was thrown off; nobody claimed respectability; vice bordered with vice, corruption with corruption. But in the frightful maelstrom were hurled far down the dizzy road to ruin, the education for the most exalted positions in society, and it was affirmed that there were respectable women present; and it is certain that ordinarily a sad and sober man, with faces lined with care, witnessed and applauded the horrible parody upon enjoyment, with a zest only too evident. The best spirit of sensuality and licentiousness ruled the hour. High and low were reduced to a flat and uncompromising level of degradation. Quadrille, lancers, schottish, waltz and polka were all arbitrarily canonized. Women were tossed from boxes to floor and back again, like so many packages of dry goods or borne aloft in a crowd, shameless, upon the shoulders of shameless men. Not one faint flicker of refinement, not one feeble remonstrance, marred the consistent effrontery and debauchery of the occasion. Paris was outdone by New York; the eccentricities of La Closerie paled before the extravagance of Le Camere; and the long night of revelry went out in the gray twilight of daybreak, like the garnish meteor that drops from the zenith to the horizon, leaving a red trail of blood behind it. Even the voice of Mrs. Grundy was awed into silence by such splendid and fearful sin. One or two newspapers denounced it mildly; the participants winked at one another with bloodshot eyes for a day or two; then it became a thing of the past. D as no blot remain? Is there no scar left?

IMPORTANT CAUTION.—The unprecedented success of Rowlands' Macassar Oil during the last half century in promoting the growth, restoring and beautifying the human hair, has caused imitators to spring up in every possible variety; some so far copy the label as frequently to deceive the unwary; some offer to dispose of the recipe of a Macassar Oil (omitting Rowlands' name), with other recipes of a similar character for a few postage stamps, whilst others profess to manufacture the real (?) article at a considerably reduced price, if the public will only purchase it. Indeed, the name of these wretched purveyors from cheap and trashy receipt books is "Legion," and calls for more than usual care on the part of the purchasers in their selection of articles for the toilet. Messrs. Rowlands have complaints repeatedly from parties who have materially suffered from the use of these rashly compounded; and to frustrate to some extent such impositions, purchasers should see that Rowlands' name is on the wrapper of each bottle.

LIVER COMPLAINT is a disease much talked about, and but little understood. Properly speaking, every derangement of the liver or bilious system, is a liver complaint. It is generally preceded or attended by costiveness, or, alternatively, costiveness or diarrhea prevails. The coarse particles of bile become more or less mixed with the blood, and obstruct the pores of the skin and small blood vessels giving rise to various diseases of the skin, such as erysipelas, itching, blotches, pimples, boils, sore eyes, and sores and ulcers of various kinds. Dr. Walker's Vegetable Vinegar Bitters can be safely recommended as a safe and certain cure, as well as preventive, for this class of ills.

The True Medical Doctrine.
Nature when struggling with disease, indicates unmistakably the kind of assistance she requires. In cases of nervous weakness and general debility, the feeble pulse, the lachrymose eye, the attenuated frame, the flaccid muscles, the melancholy visage, inform us as plainly as if each organ had a tongue, that a medicated stimulant is needed. It does not require the aid of a medical education to understand this dumb appeal for new vigor, from an exhausted system. Every reader of these lines can comprehend it just as well as the graduate of a physicians' college. Let not this demand of enfeebled nature be neglected. Respond to it promptly by commencing a course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, a preparation uniting, in their highest excellence the properties of a stimulant, an invigorant and an alternative. Before three days have elapsed, from the taking of the first dose, a beneficial change will be manifest in bodily and mental condition of the patient. The pulse will be stronger and more regular the eyes will begin to lose its dull expression, the muscular and nervous systems to recover their tension, and the spirits to improve. Persevere and a complete reinvigoration of the depressed animal and mental powers is certain. In cases of dyspepsia and biliousness, the same salutary results will be obtained. The appetite will revive, the sallowness of the skin disappear, and all the distressing symptoms which accompany disorders of the stomach and liver will rapidly subside. The cold of winter often intensifies these complaints by checking the perspiratory action, by which so much morbid matter is evaporated through the pores in milder weather, and therefore the BITTERS are especially useful to the dyspeptic and at this season.

Yes, Everywhere!

In her bath-room, in her drawing-room, her boudoir, in her carriage, at the ball or opera, on the promenade, everywhere, a lady requires as the extreme of refined enjoyment and fashionable luxury the fragrant aroma of the genuine MURRAY & LANMAN'S FLORIDA WATER.
As there are counterfeiters, buyers should always ask for the Florida Water prepared by the sole proprietors, Lanman & Kemp, New York.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—These celebrated Pills are essentially useful in purifying the blood, cleansing the stomach, gently stimulating the kidneys, and acting as mild aperients. A few doses of this purifying medicine set the feeblest stomach right, remove all bilious symptoms, steady the circulation, give strength to the muscles and composure to the brain and nerves. The Pills are so innocuous that they may be taken by persons in the most delicate state of health, and with marvelous effect. When the system has been overtaxed by over indulgence, or exhausted by morbid preparations, these Pills are excellent restoratives, they expel the poison and enrich the blood.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering from a miserable ailment, such as the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system. Look at their pale faces, emaciated bodies, and their general debility. How many of these persons are there who are suffering from the effects of a venereal disease, which has been transmitted to them from a diseased parent. Let parents guard their children from those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are careful, and do not allow their children to be near those who are suffering from these diseases. Send them immediately to Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary for years, and let them be cured. His special cases with mercury or any injurious drug, is never important to those afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the most pretended doctors who, instead of curing, publishing their skill in curing, in a few days, impose upon the people by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Behold the careful, and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness. The consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz.: Salivary countenance, dark spots upon the face, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rattling of leaves and rattling of chariots, weakness of the limbs, loss of the limbs, loss of vision, loss of intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shut society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, forced tongue, breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, nervousness and frequent insanity. It relieves the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give one hundred dollars to any person who will pay, immediately to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco cures.

MARRIED MEN. Of those who continue married, who are suffering under any of these terrible maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them not delay to obtain immediate relief. Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to "seek a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge."

Cured at Home. Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon stating case, symptoms, length of time to disease has continued, and have medicine promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, by enclosing $1.00 in currency, or in coin, in a registered letter through the Post Office, or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded by express to any part of the Pacific Coast. Address to J. Gibbon, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco—Post office box 252. 25. Private entrance on Commercial Street—63. Remember to put BOX 252 on letter.

Correspondents will please inform Dr. Gibbon that they read his advertisement in the British Colonist.

Medical. Ayer's CATHARTIC PILLS. Are you sick, feeble, and complaining? Are you out of order, with your system deranged, and your feelings uncomfortable? These symptoms are often the prelude to serious illness. Some fit of sickness is creeping upon you, and should be averted by a timely use of the right remedy. Take Ayer's Pills, and cleanse out the disordered humors—purify the blood, and let the fluids move on unobstructed in their natural channels. State the functions of the body into vigorous activity, and the system from the obstructions which make it cold with the scrofula in the body, and obstructs its natural functions. These, if not relieved, react upon themselves and the surrounding organs, producing general aggravation, suffering, and disease. While in this condition, expressed by the derangements, take Ayer's Pills, and see how directly they restore the natural action of the system, and with it the buoyant feeling of health again. What is true as to general health, is true as to the common complaint, is also true in many of the de- peated and dangerous distempers. The same purga- tive effect expels them. Caused by similar obstruc- tions, and derangements of the natural functions of the body, they are rapidly, and many of them surely, cured by the same means. None who know the virtues of these Pills, will neglect to employ them when suffering from the disorders which they cure. Statements from leading physicians in some of the principal cities, and from other well-known public persons: From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1856.

DR. AYER'S PILLS are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcers on her hands and feet, and my wife of a most distressing and dangerous complaint, which she has long been laboring with. I have been long and severely afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her. J. A. MORTGIDGE.

As a Family Physic. From Dr. W. C. Wright, New Orleans. Your Pills are the prince of purges. Their ex- cellent qualities surpass any cathartic we possess. They are mild, but very certain and effectual in their action, and, which they possess, is their invalu- able to us in the daily treatment of disease. Headache, Sick Headache, Font Stomach. From Dr. Edward Boyd, Baltimore. DEAR DR. AYER: I cannot answer you what complaints have been cured by your Pills better than to say that I have used them in purgation, and I have been long and severely afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her. J. A. MORTGIDGE.

DEAR DR. AYER: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache anybody can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a four stomach, which they cleanse out of the system. Yours with great respect, ED. W. FREBLE, Clerk of Steamer Clarion.

Bilious Disorders—Liver Complaints. From Dr. Theodore Bell, of New York City. Not only are your Pills admirably adapted to their purpose, but I find them to be a most effectual remedy in the Liver very marked indeed. They have in my practice proved most effectual for the cure of bilious complaints than any other remedy I have ever used. I should be glad to have a length a purgative which is worthy the confidence of the profession and the people.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR. Washington, D. C. 7th Feb. 1856. SIR: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and certain. Their effect on the bowels is admirable. I have seldom found a case of bilious dis- ease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them. Fraternally, I am, Sir, your obedient servant, Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Diarrhoea, Relaps, Worms. From Dr. J. G. Green, of Chicago. Your Pills have had a long trial in my practice, and I hold them in esteem as one of the best aper- ients I have ever found. Their action on the liver makes them an excellent remedy, when given in small doses for bilious dysentery and Relaps, and for the use of women and children.

Dyspepsia, Impurity of the Blood. From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston. DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extra- ordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in distress. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood, they are the very best remedy I have ever known of, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, Wyoming Co., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855. DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them to be an excellent purga- tive, and cleanse the system and purify the fountains of the blood. JOHN G. MEACHAM, M.D.

Constipation, Costiveness, Suppression, Rheumatism, Cold, Neuralgia, Dropsy, Paralysis, &c. From Dr. J. P. Vaughn, Montreal, Canada. Too much cannot be said of your Pills for the cure of costiveness. If others of our fraternity have not such excellent success as I have, they should join me in proclaiming it, for the benefit of the multitudes who suffer from that complaint, which, although bad enough in itself, is the progenitor of others that are worse. I believe costiveness to originate in the liver, but your Pills affect that organ and cure the disease.

From Mrs. E. Stuart, Physician and Midwife, Boston. I find one or two large doses of your Pills, taken at the proper time, are excellent remedies of the natural secretion when wholly or partially sup- pressed, and also very effectual to cleanse the stomach and expel worms. They are so much the best physic we have that I recommend no other to my patients.

From the Rev. Dr. Huxley, of the Methodist Epis. Church. HOLMES HOUSE, Savannah, Ga., Jan. 6, 1856. DR. AYER: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on excruciating neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow but sure. By persevering in the use of them, I am now entirely well.

SENATE CHAMBER, Baton Rouge, La., 5 Dec. 1855. DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured, by your Pills, of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that has afflicted me for years. I am now able to walk, and I feel most of the Pills in market contain mercury, which although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful con- sequences that frequently follow its incautious use. They contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.
